AIMS AND OBJECTIVES:

IndiaTech.org (TSIA) is a non-profit, voluntary organisation that has the objective of creating a strong and vibrant technology and innovation ecosystem in India. The organisation serves as a platform for the Indian internet-based start-ups and companies and their investors with the aim of ensuring a conducive business and enabling regulatory environment for Indian entrepreneurs and promoting innovation and strategic growth.

The stated objectives of the organization will be:

1. To serve as a collaborative platform for Indian internet-based start-ups and companies and their investors in addressing key ecosystem issues.
2. To work towards enabling a conducive regulatory environment by engaging with various governments.
3. To engage on policy discussions with the government and related stakeholders to facilitate rapid growth of the industry, ecosystem and investments in India.
4. To carry out cutting-edge work to ensure leadership in technology innovation, economic research, evidence-based policy to advance multi-stakeholder interest, and encouraging technology entrepreneurship to develop India specific solutions.
5. To carry out research, bring out publications and reports, hold talks, discussions, seminars, etc. on policy and regulatory issues that impact the industry.
6. To identify bottlenecks and impediments towards ease of doing business; formulating solutions; and making recommendations and representations to the government.
7. To help the sector attract more investments, by connecting companies with investors and vice-versa, and by addressing investor concerns/questions.
8. To collaborate with experts, consultants, institutions etc. who can engage in collective thinking regarding the policy objectives of IndiaTech.org.
9. To evolve best practices and learnings from Indian start-up and unicorn ecosystem to accelerate growth of Internet and cutting-edge technologies globally.
10. To encourage technology entrepreneurship to develop India specific solutions.
